

Sustainability Education Assistant Americorps Internships Utah House & USU Botanical Center Kaysville, UT

The AmeriCorps volunteer program, is offering four internships with Utah State University's Utah House (UH) at the Utah State University Botanical Center (USUBC) in Kaysville, Utah. This is an exciting opportunity to learn more about sustainability, resource conservation, and education. For more information about the UH and USUBC please visit www.usubotanicalcenter.org.

The intern will provide leadership in and/or assist with the following:

- Interpretive tours and maintenance of the resource-efficient Utah House and surrounding water-wise demonstration landscape
- Deliver youth education activities and field trips
 - Study existing program curricula
 - Set up and clean equipment, conduct activities, and manage K-12 field trips
- Adult conservation education programs

These are non-paid internships. Two are 300 hour terms of service and 2 are 400 hour terms of service. You have one year to complete the hours and earn the education award. The education awards are listed below:

- 300-hour term of service: $1,175 scholarship to any college or university
- 400-hour term of service: $1,468 scholarship to any college or university

Preferred Qualifications:

- Background in resource conservation, environmental studies, landscape architecture, education, or horticulture
- Experience working with the public, including children
- Excellent communication and computer skills
- Demonstrated ability to work independently and as part of a group
- Desire to learn about sustainable building and landscape design
- Available to work some mornings and a few evenings
- Ability to be active and lift moderately heavy objects

Application:

Please contact Jayne Mulford (435) 919-1265, jayne.mulford@usu.edu regarding application procedures.

Applications are currently being accepted.

EXTENSION

UtahStateUniversity

Utah State University is an affirmative action/equal opportunity employer.