
Fall 2023 Seminar Series

Global Change & Sustainability Center and Environmental & Sustainability Studies

August 29, 2023

Weston McCool, Society, Water, and Climate Interdisciplinary Research Group, University of Utah

Can short-term adaptive strategies reduce long-term resilience? A cautionary tale from the ancient Andes

September 12, 2023

Jason Robison, University of Wyoming College of Law Environment, Energy, and Natural Resources program

“Try Again”: Arizona v. Navajo Nation & the Colorado River

September 26, 2023

McKenzie Skiles, Associate Professor, Department of Geography, University of Utah

Snow darkening as a motivation for advancing monitoring and forecasting capabilities of mountain snow water resources

October 17, 2023

Johnnye Lewis, Research Professor, Director of Community Environmental Health Program, College of Pharmacy, University of New Mexico

Dr. Lewis focuses on major environmental health disparities that adversely affect Native Americans.

October 31, 2023

Andrew Curley, Assistant Professor, School of Geography, Development & Environment, University of Arizona

Dr. Curley's research focuses on the everyday incorporation of Indigenous nations into colonial economies.

November 14, 2023

Kate Magargal, Department of Anthropology, University of Utah

Dr. Magargal's research examines how human economic decisions contribute to ecological disturbance regimes, primarily via the human use of fire.

295 FASB

4:00 - 5:00 PM

(Also on Zoom)

ALL ARE WELCOME

This fall, the GCSC is partnering with the Environmental & Sustainability Studies program in celebration of their 25th anniversary. Our joint fall seminar series features interdisciplinary researchers whose work sheds light on environmental science, justice, and sustainability.

Students can enroll in the SUST 6800 one-credit course to explore these issues in an interdisciplinary cohort.

THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

GLOBAL CHANGE
& SUSTAINABILITY
CENTER

